

What is PESICIE?

When we learn about a new civilization or group of people we need to learn about what makes them similar and different from other cultures. The easiest way to do that is to categorize how they function individually. So we divide out their traits politically, economically, socially, culturally, intellectually, and environmentally. This way we can see them from every angle.

Political

Economic

Social

Cultural

Intellectual

Arts, architecture, literature, science, math, technology

Environmental

